

We visited the Imperial War Museum as part of our learning of World War Two. We learnt a great deal about events before, during and after the War and as the pictures show, discovered that our high-visibility jackets work very effectively in the dark!